Crows Nest Lake Being Considered For Swimming Pool

Plans for what could possibly increase the tourist business tremendously in the Crows Nest Pass towns are being considered and investigated by a number of local interested citizens who feel that a large warmed-up body of water is the answer to more tourist business.

The east end of Crows Nest Lake is the body of water being considered and feasible plans have already been looked into that are certain that through natural methods this good sized body of water can be heated.

Cost of the project was the next problem that faced the interested parties who are now of the opinion that the entire project would cost only between some $10,000 to $15,000. William Kovach, M.L.A. when approached by The Journal as to what assistance might possibly be expected from the provincial government, felt that if enough public interest for a united effort between organizations and private persons was shown in the Crows Nest Pass, the government would certainly come to the assistance of the area as the plan would mean the institution of a much-needed recreational facility in this Crows Nest Pass.

Crows Nest Lake, just a little over six miles from Coleman, is one of the favorite picnic spots of hundreds of Crows Nest Pass people, who enjoy just loitering around the shores of the scenic lake that provides good fishing and boating for those who own boats.

Water skiing is also being practiced by a large number of young people in the Pass, but swimming is only practiced by a few who dare to dip into the icy cold waters of the lake.

The lake has a natural fine gravel shoreline and the gradual slope of the lake makes for an ideal swimming pool as it drops about one foot for every 50 in length. Average depth of the part being considered for the project is nine feet. The lake shore is also on government property, although a few lots are leased by private individuals. Numerous organizations here use the lake shore as the site for their annual members' picnics.

Warming up the east end of the lake by natural processes studied by those interested individuals, would provide a top rate recreational area for all the residents of the Pass as well as visitors and would also tend to keep home many of the local people who travel hundreds of miles on their holidays seeking a spot where lakes with warmer water are available for swimming.

Should enough community effort be put into this project of warming up Crows Nest Lake for use of all the Pass towns, the villages and towns in the Pass would not have to consider building large swimming pools that would cost high maintenance fees each year.

With investigations having been made by several interested citizens a meeting is being planned for the near future when representatives from local organizations, Boards of Trade, town councils, hotelmen and interested citizens will be invited to attend to discuss this matter which could mean a terrific drawing card for visitors to the Pass area.

Federal Member Sends Statement re Old Age Pensions

People drawing Old Age Pensions have, under the old law, had to reside in Canada to draw their pensions. This has been changed, and under a new law passed during the 1960 Session of Parliament, a person may live in the United States or any other country and draw his Old Age Pension.

There is one main exception - in cases where the recipient has not lived 25 years in Canada since his 21st birthday, and even then he may take a trip and draw the pension for seven months while he is out of the country.

In response to a number of enquiries, I have asked the Minister of National Health and Welfare to prepare a short statement which could be made public for the benefit of Old Age Pensioners and relatives. A copy is herewith attached.

LAWRENCE E. KINDEL,
M.P., Macleod constituency.

"The Hon. J. Waldo Monteith, Minister of National Health and Welfare has announced the following changes in the Old Age Security Act as approved recently by Parliament.

1. A pensioner will no longer have his pension cheques suspended when he leaves Canada. Whatever benefits he is entitled to will be mailed to a pensioner at his foreign address.

2. A pensioner who has resided in Canada for at least 25 years since his 21st birthday may continue to draw benefits even if he lives abroad permanently.

3. A pensioner who has not resided in Canada for at least 25 years since his 21st birthday may be paid his pension outside of Canada for the month in which he leaves the country and for an additional six months' absence.

According to records of the Department of National Health and Welfare, most recipients of Old Age Security have the necessary residence requirements to qualify for permanent out-of-country benefits.

It should be pointed out further that the required 25 years after 21 do not have to be a continuous period.

In addition, any residence after age 70 can contribute to the 25 year requirement. For example, a person coming to Canada at age 11 and living continuously in the country until age 72 would meet this qualification.

Persons who cannot meet the 25 years requirement represent only a small proportion of Old Age Security recipients. They will, however, enjoy two advantages over their previous position:

(a) On leaving Canada, they will not have their pension cheques suspended but will continue receiving them at their foreign address.

(b) They will be able to remain out of the country for eight months less two days without loss of benefit as against seven months less two days as was previously the case. They could, for example, leave on October 1st and return as late as the following May 31st.

A pensioner who is away from Canada and who does NOT have the necessary 25 years residence after 21 will be eligible, on his return to Canada, for any benefits due him under the previous legislation.

When considering leaving Canada either for temporary or indefinite absences, pensioners are asked to contact the Regional Director of Old Age Security in their area to make arrangements for the continued payment of their benefits.

There sure are a lot of fellows who can't play the guitar... who do.

The smallest good deed is better than the greatest intention.

A diplomat can tell you where to go and make you look forward to the trip.

Request Co-operation In Shooting Rifles In Rural Areas

The RCMP request the co-operation of parents in preventing indiscriminate shooting by young boys and teenagers adjacent to the cities and other heavily populated areas.

A number of complaints are being received continually regarding this shooting in the rural areas, usually within five or six miles of the cities and some near the heavily populated beaches and holiday resorts.

Some farmers have suffered heavy financial loss by reason of cattle and horses being killed or wounded and several motorists have had car windshields or windows broken by stray shots fired in the direction of the highways. This latter practice endangers the lives of the travelling motorists and their passengers.

It is felt that parents have a responsibility to warn their children concerning this indiscriminate shooting and as most is done by juveniles they should consider their financial responsibility in case of accidents caused by stray bullets and deliberate shooting.

The greater number of these complaints are received during school vacation period.

Another Old Landmark Gone

An old landmark on the Coleman main street was torn down last week by W. Flivovich, who bought the building formerly known as Parks Grocery.

The old frame building was built in the early 1900's and old timers believe it to be one of the first buildings on the Coleman main street. The building was operated as a Chinese Café and was bought from Frank Celli by Jack Johnson, still of Coleman.

Mr. Johnson and his son Bill, now of Lethbridge, operated a grocery store in the building, after which Jack Rushdon rented it and operated a store for a short time prior to Mr. Johnson selling the building to the late Steve Janostak in 1956.

Mr. Janostak operated a business here until he sold out to Jim Park of Coleman in 1946. Mr. Park operated a grocery business in the building until 1957 when he went to work for Coleman Collieries on the office staff.

The building has been demolished and Mr. Flivovich, the present owner of the lot, has not disclosed what, if anything, is to be erected on the lot on the south side of Coleman's main street.

Greenhalgh's Receive Congratulations From Government

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Greenhalgh of Coleman, who celebrated their 50th anniversary recently, were very pleasantly surprised this week when they received a certificate from the Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta, congratulating them on the occasion of their golden anniversary.

The certificate reads "To Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Greenhalgh, may I extend to you my sincere congratulations on the occasion of your Golden Wedding Anniversary, and hope that you enjoy health, happiness and prosperity in the coming years. Signed J. Percy Page, Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of Alberta."

Former Coleman Girl Passes

Mrs. R. L. Griffiths (nee Virginia Olsen) passed away on July 26th, 1960, at Barrie, Ontario, after a short illness.

The late Mrs. Griffiths was born in Lethbridge on July 17, 1915, and came to Coleman with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Harry Olsen. She received her education in the Coleman schools.

She was married in 1935 to Mr. Leslie Griffiths, a Coleman boy.

She is survived by her husband and two daughters, Misses Donna and Fay (who are both graduate nurses), also one sister, Mrs. James Kilgannon of Coleman.

Funeral services and interment held July 29th at Barrie, Ont.

Personnel of Forestry Dept. Are Being Kept Busy

A constant vigil and promptness on the part of the personnel of the Crows Nest Pass Forestry Department is chiefly responsible for the fine work that is being done in this area to suppress and put out any fires that break out in this mountainous foothills area.

On Wednesday afternoon Crows Nest Pass was hit with its first electrical and rain storm in the past month, and although a short heavy downpour of rain was more than welcome to cool temperatures and lessen fire hazards, the accompanying electric storm that followed and lasted until evening, started one fire in the Vicary Creek district, some 12 miles north of Coleman.

The fire was spotted by a Coleman Collieries truck driver who immediately turned in the alarm to the Department, who lost no time in dispatching six men to the fire. The fire, in heavy timber, well up on the mountain side, was cordoned into a 25x30 foot area and was put out by the men who arrived on the scene around 4:00 a.m. The fire was about one mile south of the Vicary Creek mile of Coleman Collieries.

On Wednesday morning the Forestry Department turned out to assist a CPR crew who lost a fire near Passburg and while the men were busy putting this one out, another broke out farther west along the track near the Byron Creek Crossing, by Hillecrest.

Road To Cemetery Improved

Department of Highways crews are this week completing work on the improved road to the Passburg cemetery. The crews have done much fill work on the curvy, hilly road and the road has been considerably widened and straightened out.

A heavy layer of fine gravel has been laid on the road which will now be classed as an all-weather road.

The cemetery at Passburg was completely cleaned out and cleared of a heavy growth of brush last fall and the grounds will now be used by the village of Bellevue and the Improvement District No. 10.

Cotton culture is thought to have originated in India about 1500 B.C.

New Priest At Anglican Church

The Rev. and Mrs. Percy Dodd and two sons, Scott and Clarke, will be leaving Coleman at the end of August for Dutton, Ont., where Rev. Dodd will take over duties as Rector of the Church of St. Nicholas.

Dutton, a town of some 3,000 persons, is 40 miles west of London, Ont., on the highway to Windsor. Rev. Dodd has been Rector of St. Luke's and St. Alban's Anglican Churches in Blairmore and Coleman for the past 14 months.

Replacing Rev. Dodd in his duties in the Pass charges will be the Rev. Peter Millen, who is at present Curate at the church in Red Deer.

Rev. Millen will take over his duties as of September 1st. He will be accompanied to the Pass by his wife Helen Millen, who has accepted a position on the teaching staff of the Coleman schools.

Elks Enjoy Annual Picnic

Dunking John Holyk in McBain's Lake is becoming an annual highlight when the Coleman Elks enjoy their annual picnic at this British Columbia resort.

Past Exalted Ruler John Holyk at the picnic held Sunday, July 17, walked out onto the wharf at McBain's, dressed in his best Sunday suit with the intention of asking some of the Elks members who were swimming to come to shore to start some of the children's games going.

Seeing an opportunity that would not arise again the men grabbed Johnny bodily and deposited him, fully clothed, over his head, into the lake. Either having an exceptionally good nature or just being relieved at being cooled off, Johnny took the prank in good style and just peeled off his suit jacket, shirt and tie and shoes, and rolled up his pant legs and enjoyed the day's fun.

Last year the men were having a wheelbarrow race at McBain's and Johnny - riding in the wheelbarrow, was wheeled right off the end of the pier into the lake.

Well over 200 Coleman Elks, their wives and families took part in the annual picnic and enjoyed a day of swimming and picnicking at Legion beach. The usual races and games held at the affair were called off due to the extreme heat and swimming comprised most of the day's fun. Besides the picnic lunches brought by the Elks, the Lodge provided all the ice cream, pop, hot dogs and corn on the cob that everyone could eat.

The affair concluded in the evening with all reporting having had an excellent time, except Johnny Holyk, who not having too much to say about the event, appears to be planning some sinister scheme for next year's picnic.

OF MANY THINGS (By Ambrose Hills)

Hospital Service Plan

Here in Manitoba, where I reside, premiums for Manitoba Hospital Services Plan have been raised. We all knew it was coming, because the Minister of Health and Public Welfare had been hinting at it for some time. Furthermore, the cost of hospital services, wages, new forms of treatment, etc. had been going up and more and more beds were being added.

All this didn't make the increased premiums any easier to take. Everybody said 'Ouch'. On the other hand, instead of being sore at the Manitoba government for raising the premiums, most citizens gave them marks for doing it the honest way, rather than hiding the cost by dipping into the general fund or slapping a sales tax on us.

Furthermore, as a married man with five children, I still pay less for a six-month protection period than it would cost me if any member of my family spent two days in hospital; and according to the papers, a single man pays less for the protection period than he would pay for one day in a Winnipeg hospital. If we are going to have such Plans, they have to be paid for, and the only honest procedure is to let us know the actual cost.

Saskatchewan is about to launch a prepaid compulsory Medical Services Plan. They expect it to cost about $35 per family per year. If they haven't estimated the cost any more accurately than they estimated the cost of their Hospital plan, it will pretty soon be costing the people of Saskatchewan more like $200 per family per year. When their hospital plan began they thought it would cost about $5 per family per year, or $5 millions a year. It was half as much as that again in the very first year and it soon shot up to $33 millions per year, but very few citizens know it. And, of course, the Federal Government came to the rescue eventually.

Whatever such Plans are launched in the future, I doubt very much if the government in Ottawa will again come to the rescue. I think the people in each province are going to have to pay for whatever Plans they want. I do not believe that the prepaid, compulsory medical Plan, to be inaugurated in Saskatchewan, will spread across Canada. Instead, it may well prove so costly to that province that no other province will want to touch it!

Summer Hazards

Many a vacation has been spoiled because people didn't observe a few simple rules. Here are a few published in the Magazine Health by the Health League of Canada that might help to make your summer more enjoyable:

1.—Sunburn — From the first exposure of 20 minutes (10 for kids), gradually increase the span of sunbaths — but don't exceed three straight hours in the sun even if you've acquired a tan or you are courting trouble. Treat sunburn as you would any other burn — with a non-alcoholic antiseptic.

2.—Swimming Accidents — Avoid them by staying out of the water at least one hour after eating. Never swim alone. Don't dive into strange waters without testing the depth. Know your limitations — don't get exhausted swimming far from shore — Read the rules and practice the basic techniques of artificial respiration.

3.—Minor Wounds — Treat them with respect or you are apt to get a painful infection. Bathe cuts and scratches in mild, soapy water, apply a non-alcoholic antiseptic such as Mycolacin (also good for burns, bruises and mosquito bites), then cover with a sterile dressing. If a cut, puncture or burn appears dangerous or is too painful, get a doctor immediately or your outdoor activities may be cut off for the entire summer.

4.—Poison Ivy — Learn to identify the plant. Any public library and most book stores will have a volume with a description and an illustration. If you get poison ivy scrub the affected area with strong soap, leaving the lather on for several minutes. Next apply a calamine lotion — never use just ordinary water, oily ointment or alcoholic solutions. They are no help.

5.—Digestive Upsets — New foods, differences in drinking water, erratic vacation meal schedules, even the excitement of setting out on a vacation can all cause stomach or intestinal upset. It's most common symptom is diarrhea, or in some people, constipation.

Kapectate is the standard remedy for diarrhea but if the affliction persists, suspect food poisoning and get a doctor. The best remedy for constipation is to get some exercise, preferably a brisk walk, and then relax.

6.—Motion Sickness — Another common affliction that can usually be prevented or at least relieved by following a few rules. If you are prone to motion sickness avoid watching trees, fence posts or telephone poles that seem to be rushing past close to the car. Fix your eyes on the more distant landscape that seems to unfold more slowly. If this fails look at something in the car itself. Ride up front where the motion is smoother and cushion your seat with pillows to help absorb bumps. Keep meals light and eat two or three hours before starting out.

Observe these simple rules and precautions and they will help a lot toward making your summer less hazardous and much more enjoyable.

Salary Increases For Postal Employees

The government has announced salary increases amounting to 12.5 per cent to postal employees, effective July 1st.

The total cost to the Post Office Department for the increases will be approximately $7,342,000. This is the largest single amount ever incurred by this federal department for salary increases for their employees.

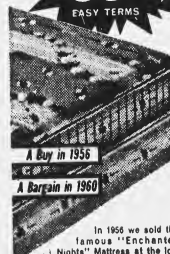

The principle being followed in granting the increases is in accord with that which its employee associations have themselves urged. The total number of postal employees affected is over 15,000.

In the overall Civil Service picture, their increases bring the number of Federal Civil Servants who have received adjustments since April 1st, 1960, to around 85,000.

Increases for the remaining 55,000 employees under the Civil Service Act will be considered before the end of the summer.

New Federal Dept. Of Forestry

The Standing committee on Mines, Forests and Waters, of which I am a member (Lawrence E. Kindt), M.P., Macleod Constituency recommended the creation of a Federal Department of Forestry. The Act to implement this recommendation passed the House of Commons on Monday, July 11th, 1960.

The forestry industry ranks first in Canada on value of products produced. It takes about 75 years to grow a good tree for saw timber. Therefore, a mistake in care and management today is a loss not only for our generation, but also for those of tomorrow.

Fire protection, selective cutting and the multiple uses of the forests will be encouraged by this new department in co-operation with the provinces. These multiple uses not only consist of the proper harvesting of timber, fence posts and other forest products, but also reforestation, grazing and recreation.

The forest grazing lands in the eastern slope of the Rockies are a vital part of the cattle ranching industry of the foothills and adjacent areas of south-western Alberta. The recreation facilities, fishing and hunting are also important and roads are needed so that people may enjoy and use the forests not only for commercial purposes but also for pleasure.

These resources belong to the people and they should be developed for the proper use of the people and conserved for future generations.

A Salute to Alberta's Jewish Pioneers

Railway construction gang of Jewish laborers in the early 1880's.

The transcontinental railway—a spiderweb of steel linking a nation together—was built by the labor of many men, among them—friendly and perhaps fearful—were the occasional work gangs of Jews, immigrants newly arrived from Eastern Europe. Still dressed in their Jewish garb, still bearded in Jewish fashion, and commanded in their own tongue by a bilingual overseer, they worked with pick axe, shovel and sledge hammer.

The railway finished, they realized they could become a part of the nation which it served. So they stayed—to become the storekeepers of the whistle-stop railway towns, and the itinerant salesmen of the homesteaders' communities. Their sons became the merchants of the bright new cities of the West; their grandsons are among the business and professional men serving the West's great, growing population. And, today, the contribution made by the Jewish laborers who helped to build the railway, now shines like a bright thread in the tapestry of Alberta's development.

The Jewish people—like other ethnic groups in Alberta—are an integral part of the province, recognized by another "proud Westerner" . . .

646 Coldstream Ave.
Toronto 19, Ont.

Dear Mr. Holstead:
I just received the Coleman

Journal and noticed the write up of my late son Joe DeLuca.

I would like to state that I also attended the funeral for which I flew down to Calgary for, but was not mentioned, and I was also near him when he was operated on, for three weeks.

I and my husband wish that you could correct this write up for us.

I thank you and remain with best wishes to you and yours.

Yours sincerely,

Mrs. O. Bomben.

Editors Note:

The Journal regrets that it was not informed of this at the time we published the story of the death of the late Joseph Louis DeLuca of Calgary, a former Coleman man.
